Hondrong, December 26rn, 1882.

A CONTRIBUTOR to the Singapore Times, in the course of a description of a voyage to Kudat from that port, suggests that the Governments of Hongkong and the Straits Settlements should be invited to send their convicts to that port. He says that the Chinese immigrants all prefer Sundakan because Rudat is reputed to be unhealthy, but the latter place only requires clearing and then Kudat may become a second Singapore. It may be urged, in reply, that the Tonquinere are not un irlandly to the French, and may be depended upon to render assistance in getting rid of Annamese oppression. This may be very true, but povertheless we think that a body of 750 men, even when added to the troops now in Hanoi, is a very small force with which to open up a lingdom, eject the ancient rulers, and suppress the banditti that haunt the frontiers. Presumably, however, the menauro of the difficulties confronting the expedition has been taken, and the French Government satisfied that a handful of Gallie warriors will suffice to disperse all the troops that the Emperor Tv Duo can, if ever so bestilely inclined, send to confront them. Meantime we are curious to know on what basis the understanding with the Peking Authorities has been arrived at, and how far the Government of M.
